

EJECTOR CONDENSER EE-1194

In this type of condenser the cooling water enters from the top and passes through a series of convergent nozzles. The steam enters through non return valve In the diverging cone the kinetic energy is partly transformed into pressure energy. A section cut model to show details of condenser. Simple to demonstrate model.

